GN0009: European Values Study (EVS)

The European Values Study 1981-2008 is a large-scale, cross-national and longitudinal survey research program carried out under the responsibility of the European Values Study Foundation. The four EVS waves cover a broad range of topics including the main domains of life: work and leisure time, family and sexuality, religion, politics and ethics. The EVS holding includes integrated datasets on every EVS wave and additionally for the waves 1999 and 2008 the national datasets. The EVS Longitudinal Data File 1981-2008 is based on the four waves and can be easily merged with the World Values Survey 1981-2008 to an Integrated Values Surveys 1981-2008 Data File.

Abstract

Two online overviews offer comprehensive metadata on the EVS datasets and variables.

The extended study description for the EVS 2008 provides country-specific information on the origin and outcomes of the national surveys. The variable overview of the four EVS waves 1981, 1990, 1999/2000, and 2008 allows for identifying country specific deviations in the question wording within and across the EVS waves.

These overviews can be found at:

Mode of Data Collection	In all countries, fieldwork was conducted on the basis of detailed and uniform instructions prepared by the EVS advisory groups. The EVS questionnaires were administered as face-to-face interviews in the appropriate national language(s). As far as the data capture is concerned, CAPI or PAPI was used in nearly all countries. Exceptions are Finland (internet panel) and Sweden (postal survey).

New Study Description

Note: New created studies with access class 0, A, B, or C are directly published in the newsfeed. In this case there is no information about principle investigators, data collection dates, and categories. For this reason it is recommended to create studies first with access class E, and - after adding this information - change the access class. Thus, news information is much more comprehensive!

Download the current version 1.8 here:

New version 2.0 will be announced there...

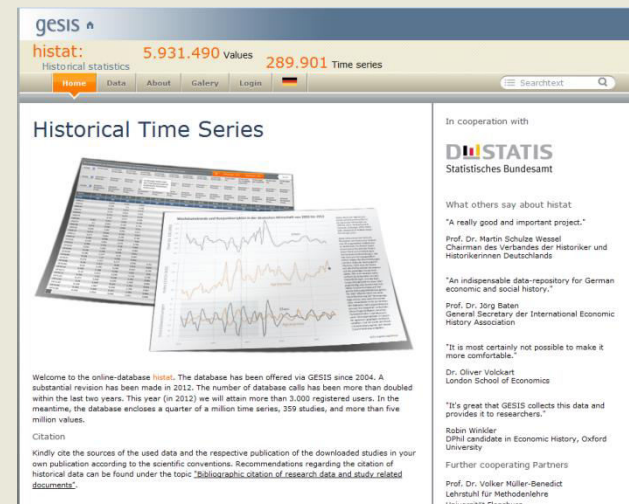

The screenshot shows the gesis website interface. The top header includes the gesis logo and navigation links. The main content area is titled 'DBKfree 1.8' and contains the following sections:

- Research: The Data Catalogue (DBK) of the GESIS Data Archive holds study descriptions of all archived studies. The software DBKEdit for maintenance and DBKSearch for research in these holdings was developed by the GESIS Data Archive to make this service available.
- License: DBKedit und DBKSearch are distributed as DBKfree to be used by others. Thus, interested users are able to describe their own catalogues on the basis of that and publish them on the web. (Sorry, DBKedit is German only at the moment).
- Installation: This program is free software: you can redistribute it and/or modify it under the terms of the GNU General Public License as published by the Free Software Foundation, either version 3 of the License, or (at your option) any later version. More information may be found in the file DBKfree_1.8_License.txt. You can find the text of the GNU General Public License in GNU General Public License (GPL) v3.0.pdf or at www.gnu.org/licenses/.
- Usage: Installation instructions and descriptions of the necessary components may be found in the file DBKfree_1.8_Installation.pdf (sorry, German only at the moment).

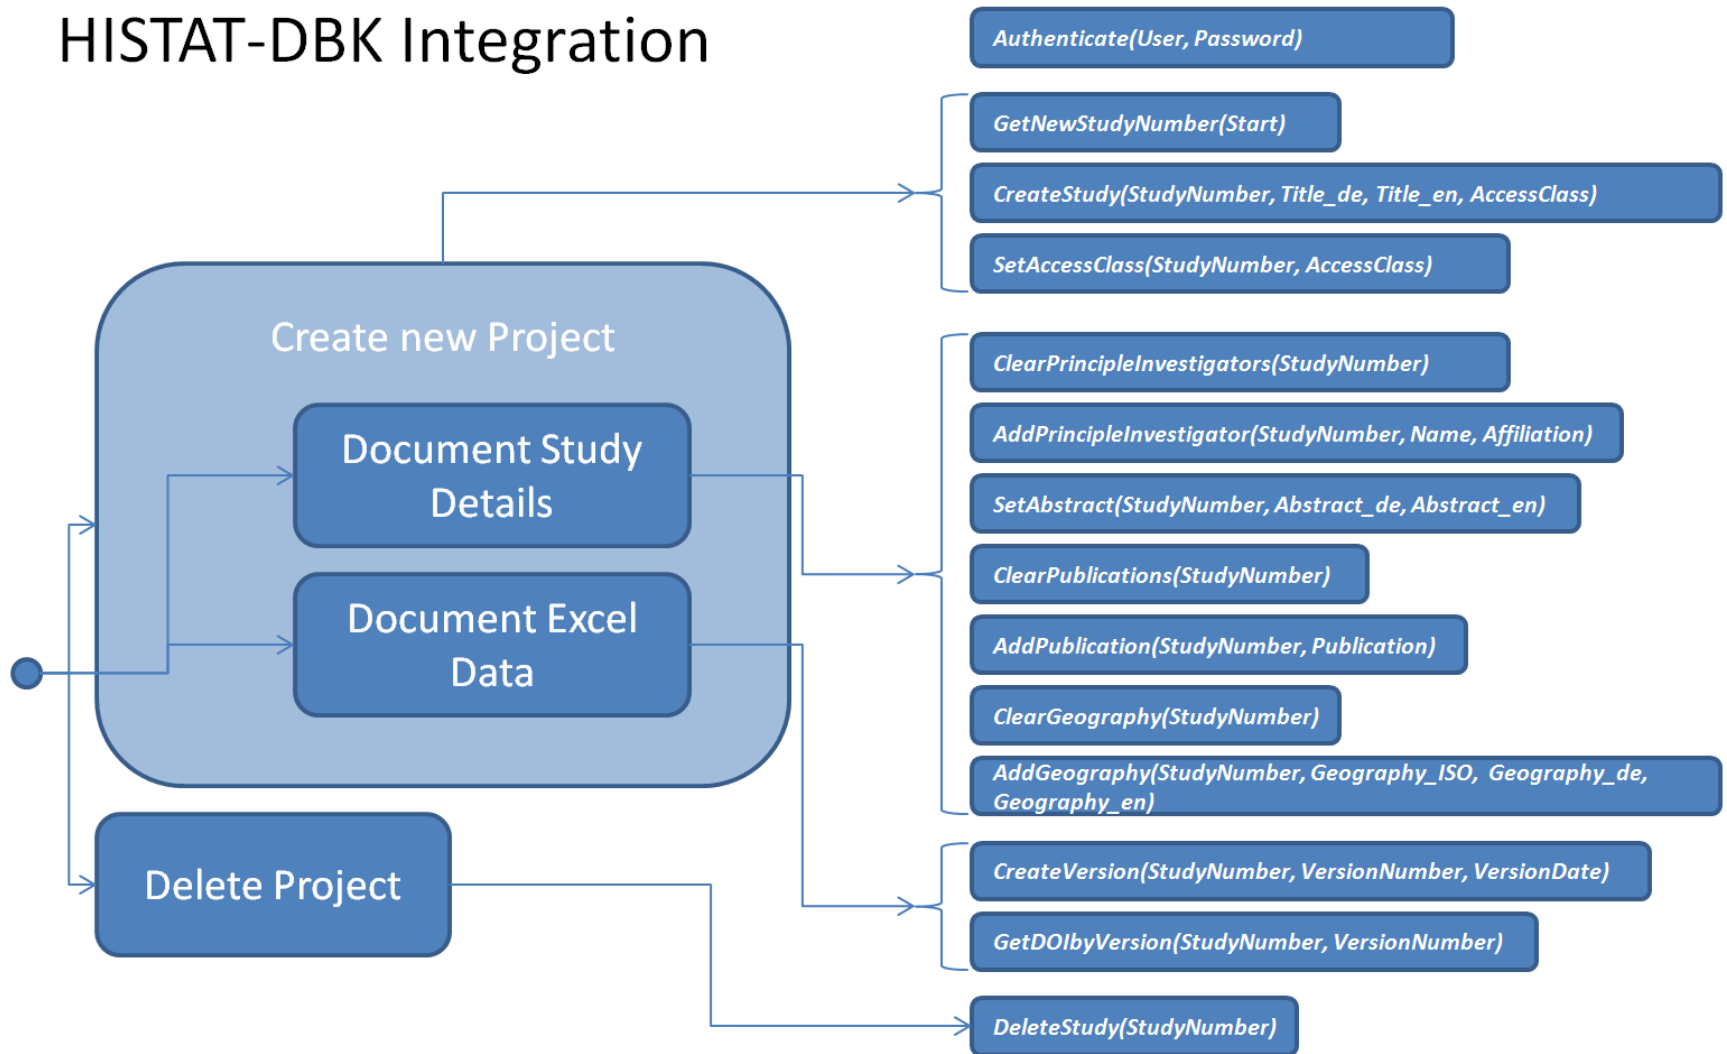

The right sidebar contains 'GESIS Quicklinks' with a search box. The footer includes the GESIS logo, contact information, and social media links.
